SPOOK

Animal Ref Code: G271

About them:

This little Halloween honey was left behind with his girlfriends, one of whom heartbreakingly never made it into rescue. Spook misses having girlfriends, and loves to get his rumblestrut groove on for his foster mums' three resident gurlies, and the rescue thinks he would benefit from finding a friend!

Spook is quite young, and very small, and fits so cutely in your arms for a little cuddle. He is quite the little speedster, but if you can catch him he does actually like a little cuddle with his humans. Being petted is a little scarier, but he will tolerate it for a little while if you are in a quiet environment.

This little guy does live up to his name and the wide world is full of scary things, so he does need a quiet home environment. If there are any other pets, or children, in the home they need to be patient and pig savvy for Spook to feel safe and comfortable.

What Spook needs is someone who is going to give him cuddles and time to let him feel safe and come out of his shell. He'll be your best friend in his own time.

Basically, Spook needs more treats than tricks!
